

IRVINE HAS ASSUMED DUTIES OF HIS OFFICE

He Is Promptly Snubbed, However, by Board of County Commissioners.

T. L. Irvine, the former deputy sheriff, whom the county commissioners refused, for personal reasons, to confirm as a deputy in the county clerk's office, has assumed the duties of his new office—clerk of the juvenile court of Salt Lake county—but not without receiving a further snub at the hands of the board of commissioners.

One of Irvine's first official acts, as clerk of the juvenile court, was to make a requisition upon the commissioners for some filing cases for the juvenile court officers, that he may docket and file and better handle cases coming before that tribunal.

Not much, Mackay is reported to have snorted when the requisition came to his notice, and Clinton and Burton were just about as violent in their refusal of the requisition as was Mackay. No formal disposition has been made of the requisition, and whether it will be returned or will go to join County Treasurer Groesbeck's letter of protest against charging his office with the $4500 Christmas present to the "Mouth" for printing the delinquent tax list is a matter of speculation.

If Irvine is confirmed by the state juvenile court commission, as it appears that he likely will be, the commissioners, though will have to honor the requisition, if it bears the approval of the judge of the court, for it is the duty of the county to maintain the court outside of a few salaries, and after their gift to the "Mouth," the commissioners could hardly refuse to honor Irvine's requisition on the grounds that it was extravagant.

INTERVENTION IS FILED BY CARRIE A. YERRICK

Carrie A. Yerrick has filed a complaint in intervention in the third district court in the suit of the Houston Real Estate Investment company and the Salisbury Investment company against L. L. Hecker to compel him to return the New York hotel and recover approximately $3500 back rent alleged to be due, in which she sets forth that she is the owner of most of the personal property in the hotel.

Ms. Yerrick says that on August 14, 1907, she bought the property from A. J. Stratton and assumed the unpaid balance owing the Freed Furniture company. On August 23, 1907, she paid the furniture company $4000 on the account, which, with subsequent purchases, leaves her owing only $1645.26. This money she tendered the furniture company on April 2, 1909, but payment was declined; the furniture company claiming no interest in the notes or personal property, it is alleged. On the same day she tendered payment to C. A. Johnson, defendant in intervention, who has secured a writ of attachment on the property, but Johnson, too, refused to accept the money, on the grounds that the amount was not sufficient.

Mrs. Yerrick asks the court to settle the beautiful mix-up and declare her the rightful owner of the property subject to the debt of $1645.26, and determine to whom she shall pay the money, and restore her to the possession of the property.

In the case of Magnus Johnson forty claimants were awarded damages ranging from 80 cents to Julie Hansen, to $131.25 to Elizabeth Wolfley. Arthur Richardson and five others were given no damages and four others failed to put in an appearance.

DEFINITE FORM TAKEN BY NEW JAIL MATTER

Now Looks Like Salt Lake Is to Have a Four-Story Structure.

Salt Lake county's proposed new jail took more definite form Monday with a conference between the county commissioners and Sheriff Sharp, on the one side, and H. J. Lippincott, representing the Paul J. Building company of St. Louis, which put in the new cell-house at the State prison, and has the contract to put in the additional tiers of cells this summer.

It is proposed to build a four-story jail, with 100 cells, on Second East street, between Fourth and Fifth South streets, just east from the City and County building, at an ultimate cost of something like $150,000, but the county's finances are in such a shape now that it is doubtful if more than fifty cells can be put in at the present.

Mr. Lippincott exhibited plans showing that a four-story jail with 100 cells can be erected for $150,000; a three-story jail with 100 cells for $100,000, and a two-story jail with fifty cells, and fifty to be added later, for $70,000. The other fifty cells, according to Mr. Lippincott, could be added at any time without any additional cost on account of the building.

Commissioners Mackay and Burton hung back at the cost, but Commissioner Clinton and Sheriff Sharp urged immediate action towards the new jail, and another meeting will be held Monday, at which Mr. Lippincott will be present, at which something definite will be decided on.

It is proposed to demolish the old county jail on West Second South street to the city for a west-side station and jail for chain-gang prisoners and build a county jail on the plan of the New York City jail, only not nearly so large. The old jail is a narrow and insecure, and the new jail would be decidedly convenient to the courts in the City and County building. If the new jail is built, it is proposed to build an underground passage from it to the sheriff's office, the joint building for the safe transfer of prisoners backwards and forwards.

Her address was very interesting and keenly listened to by the women present. The resolution was adopted by a large majority.

"The Woman's American club, representing a large membership, protests against the proposed prohibitive tariff on hosiery and gloves and pledges its membership to aid in every possible way to bring about a reduction of the same."

GIRL GROWS TIRED OF COUNTRY HOME

Mary Ekenstram of Tooele, Thirteen Years Old, Taken Back by Father.

Ernest Ekenstram of Tooele appeared at police headquarters Monday night to take charge of his runaway daughter, Mary, aged 13 years. The girl left home in Tooele early Sunday morning and came to Salt Lake. After wandering about the streets all day, poorly clad and shivering from the cold wind she was stopped by a patrolman on Main street Sunday night at about 11 o'clock.

Finding it impossible to draw from her a satisfactory explanation as to where she belonged, she was taken to the police station and was given lodging by Matron Clifford. Monday morning, upon being questioned by Lieutenant Shannon, she said that she came to Salt Lake by appointment with a relative, a domestic in the house of a local railroad man, who had promised to procure work for her in some household. She was then taken to the address of her relative, who said that she knew nothing of the girl's coming and would not be responsible for her.

The girl could not give any address, and after telling various stories she broke into tears and said that she had left her home on account of the attentions of a man whose name she refused to make known.

Her father was communicated with, and when he arrived to take charge of his daughter Monday night, said she had tired of her country home and had left without saying anything to any member of the family.

AMUSEMENTS

IN SALT LAKE THEATERS.

SALT LAKE THEATRE—Madame Nazimova in "A Doll's House." Evening, 8:15.

COLONIAL THEATRE—"The Kerry Gow" with Arthur Cunningham. Evening, 8:15.

THE BUNGALOW—Lewis & Lake Musical Comedy company. Evening, 8:15.

ORPHEUM THEATRE—Advanced vaudeville. Matinee, 2:15. Evening, 8:15.

GRAND THEATRE—"A Runaway Tramp." Evening, 8:15.

LYRIC THEATRE—Moving pictures. Matinee, 2; evening, 7.

You have read "A Doll's House." Salt Lake play-goers on Monday evening witnessed the Rosen play at the Salt Lake theatre. It is a play that was not written for the stage and yet is an attractive play and the play of the Rosenman that best suits play-goers. And it was presented by Madame Nazimova, the Russian actress, who captured and held captive the eastern play-goers for the past two years. She came to this country and as a result of the eastern theatrical world. She was looked upon as a fad, as it was said of the Rosen plays. The minds of play-goers soon underwent a change. Notwithstanding Madame Nazimova's youthful appearance and her physical characteristics, she has captured her audience, and herself so firmly with the east that the people in that region of this great country have been led to let her leave and as said for two years she has held them captive.

And when her road tour was arranged and she started across the continent everywhere she has appeared she has captured her audience. She surprises them. She astonishes them. And this she has done in Salt Lake. And on Monday evening this handsome young actress gave Salt Lake her idea of an interpretation of an Ibsen character. This interpretation is original and one. She has been compared to Duse, but her acting is different from that well-known actress. She is more like a hardy. She is possessed of wonderful magnetism. She charms and delights and holds the audience in her power. Who witnessed her first appearance on a Salt Lake stage, as it will be of those who see her during the remainder of the week.

And in "A Doll's House" the character of Mrs. Nora Helmer is established. It appears to have been created especially for her. It takes time to lay aside the doll's dress. But it is done and there comes the woman, the woman emancipated as it were. And this charming little Russian woman who as Nora is treated like a doll, founded like a doll, and in playing with her children she is like a doll—and then her facial power is wonderful. Everything about her, every move, every pose is so graceful and her eyes are most expressive.

When the woman stands out there, Madame Nazimova captivates. She holds you in her power. She shows herself to be the gifted actress that all the country has raved over. The story of "A Doll's House" is familiar with most people, hence a repetition of it is not necessary.

"The Kerry Gow," with Arthur Cunningham as Dan O'Hara, has proved a big success at the Colonial theatre this week. A splendid audience enjoyed the performance last night. There will be matinees on Wednesday and Saturday and the last performance will be given Saturday evening. Next week Mr. Cunningham will play "Sham Rhu."

Lovers of anything pertaining to prize-fights will be interested in the play, "At the Sound of the Gong," at the Orpheum this week. This is a real and vivid picture of conditions as they exist in the real square ring, including a fight, a sweet love story, excitement and interest from the beginning to the end. The pugilist, plays the leading part, while there is a company of twenty people altogether.

"The Runaway Tramp" at the Grand is meeting with popular approval, as is large and enthusiastic audience testify. And it is a capital production in every detail. The scenic effect is fine—the character acting is exceedingly good—the story absorbing and the specialties of the highest class.

The Lyric on lower Main street was again tested to its full capacity last evening and the big crowd time and again showed its utmost approval for a excellent bill that the management has concocted.

Peck Coming to Zion.
T. C. Peck, general passenger agent of the Salt Lake route, with headquarters in Los Angeles, will arrive in Salt Lake City today on a short business trip.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and demerage of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and builds up the system. Medicine dealers sell it, or the nearest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

ZEPPELIN AIRSHIP NOT YET ENTIRELY A SUCCESS

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, April 5.—The 24-hour endurance trip of Count Zeppelin's airship, started from here today, ended in a failure, owing to unfavorable weather. The airship ascended at 9:18 a. m. and the voyage was abandoned at 7:25 o'clock. It descended twice to the surface of the lake, taking water for ballast.

Major Sperrling, who acted as pilot in place of Count Zeppelin, finally decided to return to refill the ballast with gas. The destination of the trip, which was made principally for military purpose, was kept secret. The balloon traveled as far as Biberach and then returned to the lake, where it engaged a tug for a long time in maneuvers. A strong easterly wind blew early in the evening, against which it was impossible to make headway, although the motors were working well.

Major Sperrling, fearing that he might be driven into the mountains, decided to seek shelter in the floating shell and abandon the idea of refilling.

ASKS RECEIVER FOR BALD BUTTE COMPANY

HELENA, Mont., April 5.—A suit has been instituted in the federal court here by W. A. Beattie of Boston, Mass., for the appointment of a receiver for the Bald Butte Mining company and the settlement of its financial affairs.

The complaint alleges that the defendant is indebted to Beattie in the sum of $25,000, and that Beattie is a creditor of the Massachusetts man. It is alleged in the complaint that the mines of the company are unproductive, its mill and machinery practically worthless, and that the properties cannot be operated at a profit without further exploration and development. The company is in debt to others, says the complaint, and it is alleged that the sale of the entire property will be necessary to meet the claims of creditors.

CANNOT GIVE FRIEND A DRINK ON SUNDAY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 5.—Treating friends to drinks of whiskey or beer on Sunday is a violation of the law, according to a decision by Judge Kreider today.
